

MoW Silkroad

Traverse the History of Records

Published by National Museum of World Writing Systems

Chief Director Mingyu Pang

Planning & Development Jungyoung Choi, Bobin Kim

Education Instructors Maree Kim, Sooji Han

Production C&K AERO Co., Ltd.

Design F Studio

The copyright of this activity belongs to the National Museum of World Writing Systems.

MoW Silkroad

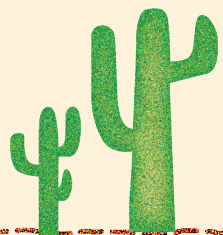

Activity Book

The story of written words through tools and methods

MoW Educational project for international students 2025

NAME :

As you look around the National Museum of World Writing Systems today, please pay attention to the writing materials and methods used for each piece, and think about your favorite exhibit in the collection.

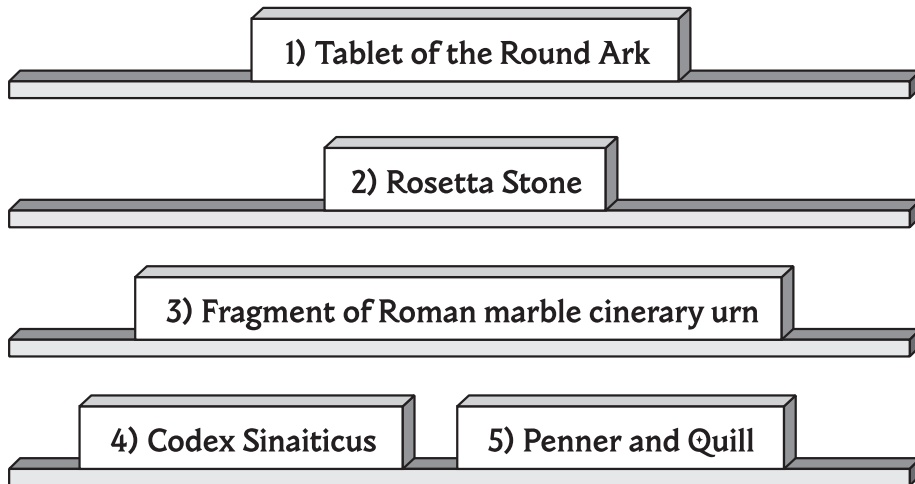

Q1. What is the name of an exhibit?

Q2. How was this exhibit recorded?

Q3. Which types of writing systems were used, and which kinds of information were recorded?

These are the exhibits to look at in this program.

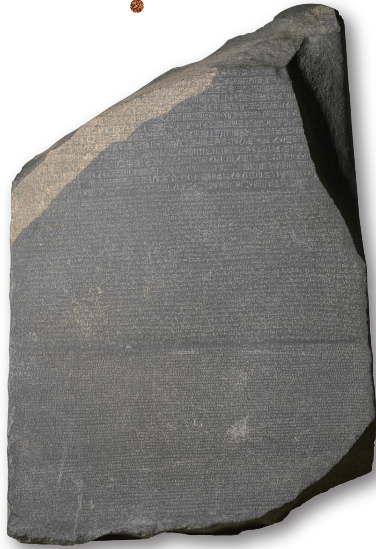

Q1. What is the name of an exhibit?

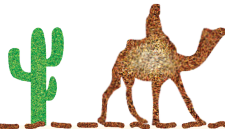

Q2. How was this exhibit recorded?

Q3. Which types of writing systems were used, and which kinds of information were recorded?

© The Trustees of the British Museum

Q1. What is the name of an exhibit?

Q2. How was this exhibit recorded?

Q3. Which types of writing systems were used, and which kinds of information were recorded?

Q1. What is the name of an exhibit?

Q2. How was this exhibit recorded?

Q3. Which types of writing systems were used, and which kinds of information were recorded?

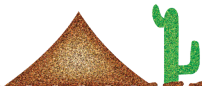

Q1. What is the name of an exhibit?

Q2. How was this exhibit recorded?

Q3. What is this exhibit made of?

Q1. What is the name of the exhibits?

Q2. What kind of writing instrument is it?

Q1. What is the name of the exhibits?

Q2. What is this exhibit made of?